THE OHIO OUTRAGE.

If there is Democratic lethargy in Tennessee or any part of the Union the news from Ohio ought to fully arouse the party voters to a sense o their duty.

recent election, but the manner in which it was conducted by the Republicans. The bull-dozing scheme, openly put in operation by Powel Clayton, a notorious Arkansas carpet-bagger was not only a foul shame and a lasting disgrace, but a violation of the liberties of the people and a menace to the freedom of elections.

Such an occurence is alarming in that it indicates what desperate means the Republicans will resort to in order to retain their hold on power, and how they will subvert the machinery of the Federal government to that end. The nefarious plan will no doubt be extensively repeated in November, and Democrats should prepare themselves to resist it.

For some days before the Ohio election came off the Republican press of is what we have repeatedly urged, and the state, led by the CincinnatiCommercial-Gazette, pretended to fear Democratic frauds, and alleged that it would | will mean only the defeat of the combe necessary to maintain a strict surveilance in order to secure a fair election. This was only a ruse to prepare for the outrage that followed. What was done can best be described Tennessee is very bitter, very unwisely in the following extract from an Independent paper published in Cincinnati, which puts it in a very mild, non-

The Cincinnati Enquirer, which cannot be accused of any overwhelming partiality for Democracy, says:

The history of yesterday's election in Hamilton county will forever remain a foul blot upon the fair fame of Ohio's metropolis. Such scenes were witnessed at the polis as brought the cry of shame from every honest man.
